Weddings.

Wragg-Andrews.

Miss Sevea Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Andrews, of Newton, Iowa, and Thomas Lowndes Wragg, of Charleston, S. C., were married last evening at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church. A brother of the groom, the Rev. S. Alston Wragg, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Augusta, Ga., performed the ceremony. The bride, who was escorted by her uncle, Burt W. Andrews, was a dainty gown of white mousseline de Paris, trimmed with Valenciennes lace. The long tulle veil, worn off the face, was caught with a sunburst of pearls, and she carried a prayerbook bound in white and gold. The young sister of the bride, Miss Mildred Andrews, and her cousin, Miss Harriet Mildred Andrews, who were pretty frocks of the same color, preceded the bride to the altar, where the groom awaited them. After the wedding a small reception was held at the home of Burt W. Andrews, in T Street, and immediately afterward Mr. and Mrs. Wragg left for Atlantic City, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Thyson-Milholten.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Milholten announce the marriage of their daughter, Martha E., to William F. Thyson. Mr. and Mrs. Thyson have gone on an extensive tour through Canada and Nova Scotia. On their return they will stop at Atlantic City for a few weeks, and arrive in Washington about September 1. They will be at home at 3419 Brown Street.

Kilpatrick-Fick.

Miss S. Elizabeth Fick, of Quantico, Va., and Thomas Kilpatrick, formerly of Philadelphia, but now of Washington were married yesterday morning at the home of the bride's parents, 929 Virginia Avenue.

The bride wore a gown of point d'esprit, made over a foundation of white silk. Her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bride's only attendant, Miss Elizabeth Horton, wore a frock of white chiffon and carried white roses. The best man was Charles C. Lord, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Hutchinson. Only the family and a few intimate friends were present at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Kilpatrick will spend their honeymoon in Atlantic City, New York, and Philadelphia. On their return to the city they will live at 929 Virginia Avenue.

Gelbach-Grindell.

Miss Genevieve Grindell, daughter of the late J. J. Grindell, of Baltimore, and William Harvey Gelbach, of this city, were married last Saturday in New York city, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Jerome Burns. Owing to a recent death in the family of the bride, the wedding was a quiet one. The ceremony was followed by a dinner at Delmonte's, to which only relatives and immediate friends were invited. After a marriage journey Mr. and Mrs. Gelbach will return to Washington, where they will make their home.

USE NEW COELOSTAT TO STUDY SUN SPOTS

Investigations by Smithsonian Scientists to Determine Solar Activity.

A series of observations are now being carried on by the scientists of the Smithsonian Institution with the newly completed coelostat which, it is hoped, will enable mankind to predict with great certainty the weather. These observations deal with the absorption of the sun's rays by the gases which surround the sun. It is thought that the sun's rays vary and thus has a great influence upon the weather conditions on the earth. The more rays absorbed by the gases the cooler it is on earth, and vice versa. The observations are based on this theory. A sufficient number of observations have not yet been made to furnish a stable basis for this theory.

Largest of Its Kind.

The new coelostat which has been erected in the rear of the Smithsonian Institution is the largest in the United States and differs from the other instruments in that it has a second mirror that gives a fixed northern ray, as well as the first mirror which reflects a ray from the different positions of the sun. The telescope which is used in connection with the coelostat, has a horizontal length of 140 feet.

The huge instrument will be moved to St. Louis next year, when it will be on exhibition at the World's Fair. Eventually it will be returned to the observatory at the Smithsonian Institution.

Special attention will be given in these observations to the so-called "sun spots," for the origin of which many theories have been advanced. Halen, of the Edinburgh Observatory, has advanced the theory that the sun spots are most numerous every tenth year, because at the end of the decade the gases surrounding the sun have, to the extent of their capacity, absorbed all the sun's rays, and then the heat of the sun, becoming most intense, sends the envelope restraining it. The sun spots, Halen asserts, are the rents in the envelope.

Effect on the Weather.

According to this theory, the weather is bound to be hotter on earth immediately after the occurrence of a large number of sun spots, which permit greater intensity in the rays of the sun that reach the earth. This theory would also argue that the coolest summer season should immediately follow the breaking of the envelope of gases around the sun.

After these disturbances in the sun's atmosphere the gases gradually regain their power of absorption, and, obstructing the rays of the sun, bless the dwellers on earth with cooler summers.

It has been proved by observations that the greatest number of sun spots occur every ten years. As it was in 1893 that sun spots were last seen in great numbers, it appears that the time has again come for such solar disturbances. So far this year the number observed has not been unusual. It is possible that we may have a cool summer, according to Halen's theory, provided this is the calm before the storm, or if the sun spots develop we may have the hottest summer in the past ten years.

GIBRALTAR LOSING GROUND AS COALING STATION

Comparatively Few Vessels Now Make Use of the Port.

Gibraltar is rapidly losing its importance as a coaling station. Last year the coal trade at Gibraltar decreased 23 per cent, and there was a marked decrease in the number of vessels which took fuel at the famous Spanish port.

R. M. Bartleman, the United States consul at Cadiz, Spain, in a report which has just been issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor, calls attention to the decrease of Gibraltar's commercial importance.

In 1889 vessels took 582,000 tons of coal at Gibraltar. In 1890 the amount of coal taken was 450,000 tons. The sale in 1900 was only 202,000 tons. A year later it shrank to 219,000 tons, and last year only 167,000 tons were taken by ships.

The difficulties and special conditions which the port of Gibraltar offers to vessels coaling are discussed by Mr. Bartleman, who concludes his report as follows:

"The authorities do not permit operations except in the daytime, and vessels must place themselves alongside of coal hulks, which often causes damage and reclamations. For these and other reasons few vessels call at Gibraltar. The city is losing daily in commercial importance. This can only be regained by the loss of the rock's essentially military and strategic character."

AMERICAN OFFICERS HOSTS OF KING CHARLES

Reception to the Portuguese Monarch on the Brooklyn.

Rear Admiral Cotton and the other officers of the European squadron of the United States Navy, will receive King Charles of Portugal on the Brooklyn Saturday.

A reception will be given by the officers on board the Brooklyn on August 4 in honor of a number of prominent Portuguese women, who have assisted in the entertainment of the Americans during their visit at Lisbon. Minister Bryan will give a garden party on August 5 in honor of the officers.

The dinner tendered to Admiral Cotton, Tuesday evening, by the Portuguese ministry of marine, is reported in dispatches to have been a brilliant affair attended by more than 250 prominent Portuguese. Admiral Cotton was heartily greeted and made a speech in which he thanked the officials for the courtesies shown him and expressed his regret concerning the exaggerated stories circulated of alleged trouble between American sailors and policemen.

I Was Cured of Asthma by breathing the Koch oily vapors, laden with Tuberculin, directly into my lungs, at the offices of the Koch Lung Cure, 730 Eleventh Street northwest, Washington.

My air pipes became saturated with these healing oils. They began to heal and in a short time I was cured. The pains in my lungs disappeared. My cough and that wheezing also left me.

I began to gain in flesh, and I am again a well woman.

My neighbors will tell you how truthfully I have spoken.

CLUE IS FOUND TO LONG MISSING SINGER

Man Who Disappeared Last September Left Suit Case in Boston.

BAYSHORE, L. I., July 30.—Relatives of Zabina M. Millard, a tenor singer, who disappeared last September while on his way home from Mount Pleasant, N. Y., learned yesterday that he had been in Boston, Mass., soon after his disappearance. His suit case is in the possession of the authorities of that city.

It is the first news that the man's relatives have had concerning him, and the clue is so faint that they have little hope. Mr. Millard, a bachelor, forty years of age, was last seen at the Empire Industrial Savings Bank, in Brooklyn.

Mr. Millard's mother lived with her granddaughter, Mrs. E. Gardiner Thorpe, and the absence of her son was kept from her as long as possible. She finally learned of it, however, and died heartbroken.

OPENING OF SEASON AT ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Playhouse Will Present Characteristic Melodrama as First Attraction.

A drama of the coal regions, "Pennsylvania," by Daniel L. Hart, who wrote the "Parish Priest," and C. E. Callahan, author of "A Romance of Coon Hollow," is to open the season of the Academy of Music next Monday. It also started last season at the same house.

In the way of a thriller, little more could be desired. The company embraces Frederick Reynolds, Joseph R. Kettler, J. G. Gibson, N. S. Daly, Howard Brandon, Alice B. Hamilton, and Blanche Paul. The play has been materially altered and improved since last seen here, and will be put on with entire new scenery. The Eagle quartet is an extra feature. The sale of seats opened this morning.

SEASONABLE FOOD SUPPLIES ON MARKET BENCHES.

Poultry is more plentiful this week than it was last, and in consequence the prices are slightly lower. The dealers say that the demand for poultry has become so great at the summer resorts that the market is somewhat tight in Washington, and has been all this season. Dressed spring chickens and spring ducks were quoted at 20c a pound this morning; alive, 16c and 18c a pound. Turkeys bring 16c to 18c per pound.

Nearly all of the vegetables on the market now come from Virginia and Maryland. There was little change in the prices this morning, and a good supply of fresh vegetables inside the market and in the farmers' stalls outside. Cabbage was plentiful and sold at 2½c to 5c a head. There is a large demand for sugar corn, and the supply is bought up with great regularity every day. It was sold for 25c a dozen this morning.

Peaches from Virginia and Maryland brought 15c a quart today. No Delaware peaches have yet arrived. Fine California peaches are 15c a quart. Melons, both cantaloupes and watermelons, of good size and flavor were on the benches this morning. Blackberries are still holding their own at 10c to 15c a quart. No change was made in the prices of meat today.

TODAY'S RETAIL PRICES.

COMMAND AND AUXILIARY STILL AT DAGGERS' POINT

The committee appointed by the Spanish War Veterans to investigate the trouble in Miles Command and Mary Sherman Miles Auxiliary, held an exciting meeting last night, when the whole matter was gone over. Capt. L. C. Dyer made a statement that the auxiliary was composed of women who were not relatives of the Spanish War Veterans, and were trying to run the auxiliary on the Grand Army plan. He said the auxiliary was of no use to the command at the present time, and he announced that hereafter the command would have nothing to do with it.
